

Liberty on Its Own

By Dr. Edwin Sandberg
English Dept.

Liberty without law is anarchy; academic freedom without responsibility is chaos. To teach and learn freely, the teacher and student must think freely, but always in terms of the truth.

The achievement of academic freedom is directly related to an individual's perception of the truth. Consequently, true academic freedom is synonymous with truth, false academic freedom with falsehood.

If this is so, then the means of acquiring and distributing truth must be valued. Each teacher must, for example, approach his field of study with an open mind. Prejudice creates falsehood and distortion—the enemies of freedom.

Statements of position which have never faced controversy and have never had to stand or fall on the basis of their tested truth generally are weak statements which should never have been made at all.

The responsibility of the teacher is to recognize the fallaciousness of such statements. He should not force students to accept them merely on the basis of his own position or opinion.

Such dictatorial methods of instruction throttle freedom of discussion in the classroom, another essential part of academic freedom. In a study of young out-of-school adults being conducted by the University of Chicago it is found that most young adults have little, if any, interest in community affairs and participate in them only when told specifically what to do. Part of the reason for this lack of interest lies in the lack of student academic freedom in educational institutions.

Thus it is a challenge to and duty of every teacher to inspire and stimulate freedom of thought in his classes so that every student can learn to distinguish between mere expressions of opinion and logical, documented statements.

True individuality is a rare commodity in America today, and its rarity is to be largely the result of college emphasis on standardized products labeled B.A., B.S. or Ph.D. Rather than encouraging individuality and original thinking, most colleges administer purely factual examinations which seldom promote student academic freedom.

These colleges should remember that most human progress has arisen from man's courage to think for himself (even at the risk of being branded eccentric) and that the man revered as great usually possessed curiosity to a remarkable degree. The college which preaches itself on its academic reputation should provide opportunities for putting this curiosity to some constructive good.

Thinking cannot be stimulated by the teacher who issues every statement with an air of absolute authority; the only time he should do so is when he is dealing with facts about which there can be no doubt. He should insist that his students know the basic facts of the field being studied in order to make their own judgments upon which to build their interpretations and evaluations.

But from that point on he should prepare the class realistically for participation in a democratic society—democratic only because it prizes the individual's right to his own opinions. Responsibility for one's position is the check on radical statements and lies, if not in the hands of the individual, in the hands of his position he is quite sure to establish its validity instantly.

For academic freedom must not be selfish, but selfless. It must exist for the good of the entire society. When an individual statement is in direct conflict with the ethical, educational and social good of the institution it should not be tolerated, for it represents a lack of responsibility on the part of the individual.

On the other hand, if an individual statement is logically supported and stated and is for the good of the college, it must be tolerated, for it is a statement in conflict with the wishes of other faculty members. No attitude is right if it is bad.

Responsibility is the key word in the whole concept of academic freedom. Without responsibility academic freedom itself could not exist.

Duke Ellington Replaces Dorsey For Pop Concert

Duke Ellington will replace Jimmy Dorsey as the choice for this year's popular concert, according to popular concert chairman Stan Vogel. Illness prevents Dorsey from carrying out his contract.

Date of the student-sponsored concert has been switched to Monday, May 20. Senators approved the switch at a special session Wednesday evening.

'REPORTART.' At Monday's regular meeting, senators voted the major portion of the evening listening to reports on matters ranging from the Student Body Project to new committees.

Project chairman Bob Matzels, senior, reported that a total of $2,783.10 was collected for this year's goal of furnishing the lounge in the new Wing of Centennial Hall. Of this amount, $2,208.60 was raised through pledges, while the remainder was obtained at the carnival.

VOTES SET. Dates for student elections have been set, according to soph. senator Herb Hafermann. Student Body Presidential finals are scheduled for April 15, while Homecoming chairman balloting will be on April 18.

Primaries for class presidents are on April 22 with finals on the 24th. Senatorial elections are set for April 29 and May 2.

A proposed student faculty academic life committee received senatorial approval. Final approval must come from the student body.

Senators tabled a proposed student faculty public relations committee for further investigation. They also turned down a proposal to promote active participation during exam week for commencement.

Junior Orlinda Deiser reported that the $75.00 the Music Educators National Conference had borrowed for the operetta had been returned.

Committees Form; Launch Investigation; Seek Info On Campus Church Question

Research is now in progress for a proposed campus congregation according to a statement released this week by the Rev. Edwin Schick, college chaplain. Two subcommittees of the Religious Activities Committee are investigating.

The first committee, headed by the Rev. Karl Schmidt, head of the Christianity Department, is looking into the possibility of starting a campus congregation. The second, headed by the Rev. Edwin Schick, will operate as a branch of St. Paul's Lutheran Church of Waverly.

Problems cited by the chairman include the question of financing, location and the theological aspect. At present, the college of the American Lutheran Church has its own congregation.

However, Prof. Lutheran College and St. Olaf, both Evangelical Lutheran schools, do have a campus, independent congregations.

Both Dr. William Schmidt and the Rev. William Walker, pastors at St. Paul's, are cooperating with the college in this study.

Another subcommittee, headed by the Rev. Waldemar Gies, Christianity Department, is investigating the proposed college chapel auditorium.

Anniversary Near

Plans are just about complete for the golden anniversary of Wartburg Publications to be held April 21-27. Highlighting the special affair will be a special 10 page anniversary issue of the TRUMPET.

A special convocation will be held Thursday featuring ex-officio Omar Bondared as speaker. Special recognition will also be given to Dr. G. J. Neumann, professor of English, for his contributions to college publications.

Open house will be held in the Pub House during the week, while on Friday a reception is scheduled in the Centennial Hall lounge. Climaxing the week will be the annual Alpha Phi Gamma Press Banquet on Saturday evening.

Hafermann Here To Talk Missions

The Rev. John Hafermann, missionary to New Guinea, will be on the Wartburg College campus Thursday and Friday to discuss with students the various aspects of mission work.

The missionary of the American Lutheran Church will address Mission Fellowship, Thursday at 7:30 p.m. in the Wartburg Hall lounge. Thursday and Friday evenings Hafermann will address chapel in the Little Theater. Students are invited to attend Missionary Hafermann's talks and to visit with him.

Improvements Begun On College Acreage

Activity is beginning on college-owned land west of the court west of the present site. Work will be needed for a football practice field. Future plans for this area also include tennis courts and a softball diamond.

Plans will soon be drawn for the relocation of the trailer court west of the present site. Trailer facilities will be provided this summer so that the trailers may be moved next spring.

In Spring . . . Many Things

In the spring a collegian's fancy light-ly turns to thoughts of . . . many things, many things.

The truth in this statement is so evident in the hectic life of the college student today that it is likely to bring more means of despair than sighs of delight. This is indeed unfortunate.

For spring is a rare and beautiful thing in the crowded, cloistered life of the student. The snow stops, the rains come and suddenly Spring is here, spreading wide her green-clad arms to welcome the host that rushes from the dorm as if freed from a gloomy prison.

It is a time for baseball and bleacher-sitting and endless arguments about the Braves and the Yankees. A time for Sun worship and Saturday siestas behind the tennis courts and sunburn oil. Time to sit on Wartburg Hall steps and talk and sing and talk some more.

It is a time for romance. Time for drive-in movies and long moonlight walks along the shimmering Cedar and root beer at the corner stand. Time for picnics and parties and proms and banquets. Time for watching the sunset and counting the stars.

Many things, many things.

The discordant note is struck when we remember that besides these many gay and glorious goings on there is still the more serious side of college life to be attended to.

Now, we wouldn't be so insensitive to the charms of nature as to come right out and say that books, homework and classroom study (pardon our grossness) are MORE important than the delights of campus spring. But we do say that they deserve SOME attention.

Spring is probably the most active, most event-filled segment of the college calendar — Parents Day, Senior Day, sports, club activities and down of other items. Thus we love; we wouldn't have it any other way. It's a wonderful part of our college life.

But we dare not let the temptation to neglect the academic side of our lives slip into obscurity get the best of us. We are at Wartburg to get an education and if we go off picking daisies at the expense of our school work we are (You're right. Here it comes — that trite but true cliché) cheating ourselves.

So gambol on the green, pick daisies and throw pop bottles at the umpire . . . But give the books a whirl, too.

I wasn't going home for Easter since it came so close to Spring Vacation, but I think I will now just to remind myself what sunshine looks like. One long time Waverly resident can remember the year that it snowed the last day of May.

This year there will be bunches of idiots (myself included) who will be yelling for Outfit in a raging snow storm instead of just driving rain.

Of course, Larry Achorn says he can remember when it snowed on July 2. Just as a sidelight, it might be interesting to note that he was in Alaska at the time.

Dean Oppermann was probably glad to know that one of the larger organizations on campus, the A.P.'s, displayed great potential for having its ranks depleted by the end of the year. Still a few A.P.'s were called in for the Ernest Oppermann Suss Conference. Suss? — Shape up or ship out.

Memo to the Convo Committee: Last year we had an extremely interesting speaker who didn't get a chance to finish. Why not call back Hubert Mitchell to diminish the rash of letter writing at our 11:10 10 o'clock get together?

Speaking of Convo, Ernest Hagen made a noble effort to become the world's most unpopular man at Convo last Thursday. But the number was well worth the wait.

Questions you might like to ask at next week's open forum convo:

Why can't we dance in the Little Theater when we can go there and see "The Creature from the Black Lagoon"? What band played in Convo Thursday?

Last year the Spring Show was cancelled because Jim Roever was not allowed to hold rehearsals necessary to the success of the show during semester test week. This year Don Oberdorfer practically had to get down on his hands and knees to get one rehearsal out of the administration for the children's play.

Congratulations to the Student Senate who politely turned down an administration plea to recommend student attendance at the functions during Commencement week — semester test week.

Amazing. "Anastasia" is coming to the Waverly Drive-In. Most drivers just finished showing "The Jazz Singer" last year. It will be hard to tear myself away from the town show, however. I'll miss the pleasant music of empty Pepsi bottles rolling down the floor.

FOOTNOTES TO FAITH

Commitment to Christ, Honest Search — Freedom

By Wayne Weissenbuehler

"Power comes not by supposing that one point of view is as good as another, but by seeking with honest inquiry what the objective truth of the matter seems to be and following it with stubborn courage tempered with humility. There can be no cutting edge that is not narrow." — Elton Trueblood.

Both the Christian faith and proper academic freedom demands a commitment. For the purpose of teaching and study it is desirable to be able to shift your perspective to as many points of view as possible. Yet a vital philosophy demands one commitment. There is no neutrality in tolerance.

This doesn't mean intolerance toward the right of other people to hold points of view different from yours. It means that you believe firmly in the faith you are convinced is true and live your life according to that belief.

This is not easy by any means. It implies a lifetime of honest search. We must always be committed to a search for truth and we must be humble enough to change our mind when the facts at our disposal convince us that our previous view point was wrong.

We can find in the midst of our search a way of life to which we can commit our life. It means following this way with very stubborn courage. To us, students in a Christian liberal arts college, this message has real meaning.

As true liberal arts students we must seek as honestly as we can the whole truth. As Christians even though we continue to search we are committed to Jesus Christ as Lord.

It is this commitment that makes the difference between a person who accumulates a lot of knowledge and a person who has a purpose in becoming truly free in a liberal education. In my opinion it is this commitment added to this honest search for truth that makes us truly educated. There can be no cutting edge that is not narrow.

Weather Snarls Baseball First Drills

Battle Grinnell, LaCrosse Here

By Wilbur Flachman
The hot stove league season is over and the calendar says its time for the great American sport — Baseball.

Warburg Knights diamond squad is battling the weather though, in preparation for next week's season for next week's opening game. Unfavorable weather conditions have hampered outside practices so far, keeping hitting and fielding practices at a minimum.

HERE TUES. The Knights will face the Grinnell College nine here Tuesday in the school's curtain-raiser. On Saturday LaCrosse will be here to oppose Warburg.

Coach Ernie Opperman is looking forward to the approaching season with a great deal of optimism. He has 14 lettermen returning from the squad that finished third in the Iowa Conference last spring. A host of newcomers are also on hand to add depth to the club.

ALL VETS. The Knights have a veteran returning to fill each position. Last season's leading hitter, senior Don Staude, is set to handle the catching chores. Backing Staude behind the plate will be two lettermen: Craig Wason, a sophomore, and Bob Weshoff, a senior.

Opperman will have a solid infield to start the season. Sophomore Wayne Slack will push down his first base post.

THERE'S SPRING in the air as track, tennis and baseball aspirants begin drills in preparation for next week openers.

Jump Record Set

By Duane Boehmke

Carl Anderson, Warburg high jumper, set a new Iowa State Teachers College indoor high jump record and a Warburg high jump record with a jump of 6'4" Sat. at Cedar Falls.

Jumping in a quadrangular meet with Coe, Upper Iowa and TC, Anderson broke both the Warburg and TC records by more than two inches. Another Warburg high jumper, Leon Bauer, tied for third in the same meet.

JUST FOUR. Campbell Due to Warburg's spring vacation, only three other Warburg men participated in the meet: Lorraine Jacobs, Walt Bolin and Max Jensen. Jensen took fourth in the 60 yard dash.

Coach Bob Campbell stated, "The prospects of a good year are somewhat stronger than last year, but the final results of the season depend on many new men and how fast they can pick up the sport."

TEN BACK. Three men, Jim Woodrow, Dave Krueger and Bob Hildebrandt, are gone from last year's squad, but 10 returning lettermen and a host of amateurs will go through their paces as the new season gets under way.

Nelson Bose, two-time conference high hurdles champion, Andy Polk, conference high jump champion, Jacobs, pole vaulter, and Phil Mueller, distance runner, are back to bolster the squad this season. Other lettermen include Bauer, high jumper, Bill Strenge, dashes; Anderson, high jumper and sprinter; Mill Galt, distance; Lou Gomer, middle distance; and John Polk, javelin.

Netsers Open Fri. At Central Tourney

Warburg netsters open the 1957 tennis season Friday afternoon in a doubles tournament at Central College, Pella. Knight racketmen settled for a 3-1 record last year.

According to Miss Adeline Langrock, racketeers coach, this year's team appears to be stronger than last year's with all varsity squad members returning for action. A total of 22 members comprise this season's netsters.

Knight varsity squad members for the 57 season are: Bob Cornwell, Les Huth, Bill Thacker, Stan Vogel, Jack Warner and Earl Himmerger.

Knight Grapplers Downed At Pitt

Two Warburg grapplers participated in the NCAA wrestling tournament held on March 29 at Pittsburgh, Pa. Dick Chelivold was the 130 pound contender and Arnie Brandt entered the 167 pound division.

Both Knight Jo-men met up with rough competition and were defeated in the first rounds. Chelivold bowed to John Johnston of Penn State by a score of 5-0. Johnston, a Pitt eastern bachelorette, went on to capture the 130 pound title in the meet.

Bruce Johnson downed Warburg's Arnie Brandt in the first round with a 5-2 verdict in the 167 pound match. Johnson also is a Pittsburgh eastern bachelorette.

Brandt ended his career as a Warburg wrestler with an overall regular season record of 20 wins and 20 defeats. Chelivold, a sophomore, has a record of 16-3.

Murler Jespers

U.S. and Senior Art Margheim will be the second runner once again.

Opperman plans to move senior Bill Bombhoff from the outfield to the third base slot, with sophomore Denney Waseles and junior Ralph Wolken filling in at shortstop.

OUTFIELD SHORT. Darwin Fiske, a sophomore and Charlie Masala, a junior, will patrol two of the outfield positions. The other spot in the outer gardens is vacated at present because of the Boeshoff shift.

In the pitching department, Opperman has four lettermen on hand. Junior Fred Jensen and soph LaVern Luopker, who shared most of the mound duties last season, will both be ready to toe the rubber again. Senior Maynard Midsgard and returning journeyman, Hank Weismann will be set for mound chores, while Masala and Slack are also slated for part-time hurling duties.

SUPPORT BASIC. Asked to comment in regard to the Student Body campaign, President Don Altman stated, "The basic factor conducive to a student government is support and the students of the college will give that support."

Following are statements made by the Student Body presidential candidates.

Charles Mashe: "I sincerely hope that all students will take advantage of their right and duty to vote. Student government is for the students and they must participate in order to build a good and properly functioning government."

Dr. Haefer has spent 25 years as a professor serving Wartburg College.
